I had a barbecue with my family today. In early morning, we prepared our smart phones, food and swimsuit in our bags We went to an island by ship . I felt excited

At the barbecue , we had big lobsters, spicy octopus, 5 packs of honey chicken wings and 3.5 litres of soft drinks. It was delicious! But the lobsters were too big so it took so much time to cook.

After that, we swam in the sea and played volleyball at the beach. We even built sandcastles and played with water guns together. At the same time, my brother was playing his remote control car beside the woods. We all felt delighted and glad!

In the evening, dad said to us, "It's time to go home. Pack up your things." But then my brother yelled, "I lost my remote control car!" So, we had to search for my brother's toy car. Lastly, we found his toy car and went home.

I was so happy today. I want to go back to the beach again!

I had a barbecue with my family today. In very early morning, we prepared some food, sunscreen and soft drinks in our backpacks. We went to Clear Water Bay by bus. I felt glad.

At the barbecue, we ate some oily beef, sweet s'mores and one litre of water. The food was scrumptious but the beef was overcooked. The s'mores were too sweet.

After the barbecue, we collected some seashells. "I got nineteen seashells." said my brother. "Well, I only got ten seashells." I shouted.

My dad was a master building sandcastles. He built a castle that looked real! "Wow, that castle looks so real! Can you teach me how to build a sandcastle?" I asked him surprisingly. "Of course I can!" dad said.

At dawn, mum said to us loudly, "It's time to go home. Pack up your stuff, kids." I was tired out but very delighted. I hope we'll go back to the beach soon.

After that, brother, sister and I played hide-and-seek in the backyard. "One, two, three...ten." I shouted. "Do you know where am I?" sister asked. "Oh! I saw you, brother!" I said.

At the same time, my little sister was playing with a doll in the backyard. "Mother, you look!

This doll is so cute!" said my little sister.

At sunset, mum said to us loudly, "It's time to go home. Pack your backpacks, kids." I was tired out but very delighted.

When we were ready, we went to Clear Water Bay by bus. I felt glad.

After enjoying the food, I went swimming in the big sea. "Oh!

Meanwhile, my sister and mom were building, they wanted the sandcastles

I had a barbecue with my family today. In the morning, we prepared some food and drinks, a beach ball, swimsuit and some spare clothes in our backpacks. We went to a beach by taxi. I was so excited.

At the beach, we followed the signs to the barbecue site. We ate some hot dogs, s'mores and steak. I drank some orange juice. The hot dog was salty, the s'more was sweet and the steak was perfectly cooked. Everything was yummy, but the orange juice was a bit sour.

After the barbecue, my parents played the beach ball in the water. I built a mini sand prison to bury my sister in it, and I shot my sister with my water gun. She was mad and shouted, "The water is too cold!" And I said, "That's what you should get for being in prison!"

In the evening, mum said, "It's time to go." So, we packed our backpacks and went home by taxi.

Dear Diary,

When I was on the way to the library today, I bumped into my idol, Olivia Rodrigo, when I was waiting to cross the road and listening to my idol's song "good 4 you". I was so astonished that my face turned red like a red chilli pepper.

She beamed at me when I waved to her. I immediately took out my notebook to get her autograph. I was nervous that my cheeks blushed up.

Thankfully, she nodded and said, "Sure!" Then, she signed my notebook pleasantly. "Aww... Thanks so much!" I screamed at the top of my lungs. "Shall we take a photo?" I asked her. "OK!" she said. "I hope we will meet again!" she smiled. She was really polite, kind and easy-going.

What an unforgettable experience!

Tony was a helpful boy. He is the most kind-hearted one in his class.

Yesterday morning, when he was going to school, he saw a little girl that accidentally tumbled down on the pedestrian walk. She got seriously hurt on her knee. It was dripping with blood. She was in pain and sobbing. Tony held her arm immediately and gave her a bandage, then sent her to the nurse's office in school. The girl said to Tony, "Thank you very much!"

During recess, Tony and his schoolmate, Andy were cleaning the blackboard in 3C classroom because they just finished drawing some pictures on it. It was enjoyable and they had a sense of achievement.

In Math lesson, Tony couldn't solve the addition questions in his classwork because the sums were too hard to find, so Tony looked confused and upset. "Do you need me to help you?" asked Andy. "Yes, please!" said Tony. After that, Andy explained how to do the sums. Then, Tony said, "Thank you, I understand now. You are so helpful."

A Day at the Centre for the Elderly

Last Saturday, I went to Smile Elderly Home in Kowloon

for a school activity with my classmates. We were all very thrilled before we went there.

When we arrived there, I started to catch up with the elderly like Mr. Fong and his wife, Ms Chan. I shared my favourite film, Love and Thunder with them. "Wow! That's my granddaughter's favourite movie, too." said Mr. Fong. I felt so shocked to hear that.

Ms Chan talked about how her life was like without films in the past and taught me to be more grateful.

After that, my classmates and I performed a drama based on Love and Thunder. We sang karaoke and danced a little bit. I played as the main character, Thor, and my classmates played the other roles.

After the show, the elderly gave us a big applause and felt delightful. Then, we gave them some homemade chocolate chip cookies. "Thank you! I'm so hungry that I could eat a horse." said Mr.
Fong. "Haha! You're very funny!"

Finally, we took a group photo with the elderly and said goodbye.

A Day at the Centre for the Elderly

Last Saturday, I visited Grand Elderly Centre in North

Point with my friends. We were thrilled in the morning.

When we arrived there, I chatted with Miss Chan and Mr. Yuk. I talked about my favourite song, 'This Is What Falling in Love Feels Like'. Miss Chan said, "Oh! It sounds nice! I love it!" Mr. Yuk said, "That is my son's favourite song, too. When he was six, he sang it every day." They told me their childhood. It is meaningful and touching.

After that, my friends and I performed a show. We danced and sang for a very long time on the stage. I was glad. The old people were thrilled and grateful, they cackled happily and applauded cheerfully.

They felt delighted. My classmate, Mina said, "It's time for lunch. But before lunch, we have a surprise for all of you!"

Then, I gave out a lot of boxes of freshly baked homemade cookies. I baked fifteen boxes but I should have baked more because I didn't have enough to give out! The elderly said it was yummy.

I felt so good.

Finally, we needed to go. We promised the elderly we would visit them again. My heart melted when they sobbed. We had a sense of achievement that day.
